

Choose Bush. Choose a war. Choose a record budget deficit. Choose to spend the money put aside for social security that he promised not to touch. Choose expensive medical insurance that the poor can't afford. Choose to invade sovereign states. Choose to alienate your country from the rest of the world. Choose a government that doesn't care about the environment as long as pollution gets their directorate ranks more cash. Choose massive tax cuts for the rich, while unemployment rockets, leaving the poorer people in society out in the cold. Choose oil. Choose a state of paranoia and fear where foreigners are mistrusted. Choose to curb civil rights in the name of national security. Choose to lock foreign nationals up offshore so the Constitution can't dictate how they're treated. Choose to discredit America.

Choose your future.

Choose Bush.
